Dear Gene:

During our conversation on 7 January you asked for a sampling of published CIA analysis on the Japanese economy, Japan-Korea economic and trade relations, the Chinese economy with emphasis on energy, hydropower, and coal, and recent National estimates on China and Taiwan. Most of these are enclosed. Missing is anything substantial on hydropower as well as an answer to your question about the identification of export markets in which the Chinese may challenge us in the years ahead. The latter follows.

Best regards,

David D. Gries
